Dear Sir

Your first question—Is it a light draft? We are so glad you asked this, for it is one of the most vital points in the make up of a good plow.

AVERY CHILLED PLOW is the lightest draft plow on the market to-day, because the mold-boards are so constructed that it gives the lightest draft possible to a plow.

We will continue our letter in the Central Record next week

It isn't that way everywhere is it?

Generally what is printed is better than what the store sells.

But we are particular in this regard. Particular to have SUCH eatables that exaggeration is quite unnecessary

So when you read a statement about what this store sells, you don't have to discount it to get at the truth. Just take what we say at its face value, and you will find no cause for dissatisfaction.

U. S. HENS END LONDON EGG FAMINE. Huge Importations Cut Record Price From $1.14 a Dozen.

London, Jan 22-Owing to the importation in the last week of 15,000,000 eggs from America and Egypt the price of eggs in London markets, which had been gradually soaring for six months, has suddenly fallen.

While eggs a week ago today were selling at 90 cents to $1.14 a dozen, today the price dropped at $1.08 for the freshest variety and to 60 cents a dozen and even lower for other varieties. The average household egg that brought 60 cents a dozen a week ago is being sold today at 60 to 75 cents a dozen, according to the neighborhood. A week ago there were almost no eggs in the market to be had for less than five cents each while today some of the larger markets are selling them as low as thrree cents, these being small, but none the less fresh.

That is what the importation of 15, had been taken into town by his mother to dine at his uncle's. After din-ner, as he sat joyously watching his city cousins playing about, he sudden-ly became embarrassed, noticing the smart frocks of the little girls and the Lord Fauntleroy rigs of the boys, and appeared to try to hide his feet back of the round of his chair. When his mother questioned him, he whispered, almost tearfully: "Before I came I forgot to paint my shoes."

Curtis had several times been to see Jack, a nine-months-old baby, and was so exuberant in his love for and enthusiasm over him we were anxious and curious to hear what he would say about Billy, then ten days old. Unfortunately, his visit came when Billy was asleep, and Curtis solemnly eyed the motionless little mite 'way down in the crib. When his father asked that evening what he thought of Billy, Curtis said, "Well, I'm a little boy, and Jack's a little baby, and Billy's

THEY PLAY IT AS A GAME.

The idea that candidates for legislative nominations in our party should state their past party record, as well as other principles for which they stand, has received much tavorable position and comments editorially in his characteristic language. Whether with Mr. J. A. We shall not prophesy the result of Mr. Beazley's candidacy, but can say that the history of our party in this county in the past has been that "party fidelity" and fitness" have been pass words of equal importance to get a nomination in a Democratic primary.

HOGAN BALLARD

Announces For Representative And Issues

Strong Card.

Heeding to the appeals of his many friends throughout the county, Mr. Hogan Ballard, of Bryantsville, announces his candidacy for the Democratic nomination, to represent Garrard county, in the Lower House of the legislature. Being an ardent supporter of the Democratic party and its nominees, never before seeking or asking for office, his friends think that he is a sure winner and deserves the support which he asks in his manly and open card which follows:

.05 To The Democrats of Garrard County;-I would feel greatly honored to be elected to represent our County in the Lower House of the next General Assembly, and will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination at the coming

I desire to call attention to the fact that although Bryantsville furnishes to our party the majority which elects Democrats in this county, there is seldom a candidate from this section of the county. It has been many years since Bryantsville has furnished a candidate for the Legislature, and for this reason claim some consideration.

Where one seeks to serve the public in any Legislative capacity, he should announce publicly the principles which he will endeavor to enact into law, as well as the party policy which will guide him if elected by the people. Should my ambition to serve you be realized the following are some of the things I shall endeavor to do:-

A Bridal Commission

By JOHN KENAN

I was sittin' with Amelia before the fireplace, with the logs givin' out a cheerful heat. Amelia didn't seem happy, though, and I asked her why she looked so melancholy-like

"I'll tell you, Mr. Grimshaw," she said. Did you ever hear the song, 'No One to Love, None to Caress?' the way I feel. Father ever since mother's death has been restless and cross, and now he's goin' to give me a stepmother. I haven't any brothers or sisters to love, and I'm goin' to have a stepmother to hate."

"Why, Amelia," says I, "the thing for you to do is to get married."

"How can I do that with nobody to marry me?" she asked, awful sad. "How you talk!" says I. "You k "You know mighty well there's lots of fellers that would be glad to git you.'

"I'd like to know where they are. If you know any sich I wish you'd send em around." "Sartain. I'll git you a husband in no time. Air you particular about his bein' good lookin' or havin' a farm of his own or anything like that?" "No, I ain't particular, leastways I won't be if you can fix me out before paw brings that red headed widder into the house, 'cause I know I've got to git out when she comes in."

"How much time is there?"
"Well, I heard paw say the other day that he calc'lated to be married before the end o' next month." "Supposin' I send you a feller that suits you and you suit him, what is there in it for me?"

"I don't see what I can do for you, Mr. Grimshaw, seein' that I haven't got a cent in the world, and there isn't any favor I know of that I can do you. But I suppose"-looking down at the floor-"havin' made the match. you'd be entitled to kiss the bride." This bothered me a lot. I was to fix up a match by which another feller was to git all the kisses he wanted for a lifetime, and I was to git one kiss on the weddin' day. "It seems to me, Amelia," I says. "that's like sellin' a man a house wo'th a lot o' money for a commission. He gits a whole house, and the broker gits a few dollars."

"You forgit," said Amelia, "that the broker don't want all the houses he sells. What would he do with 'em? Besides, when a man buys a house it argys that he's able to own a house and wants a house, and wants that particular house. I don't see that the broker earns anything more than his commission. Do you?"

"I don't see as he does," seys I, scratchin' my head. And I didn't.
Howsomever, I couldn't git it out o' my noddle that I was goin' to git the little end o' the bargain. But I felt sorry for Amelia, powerful sorry, for I'd had a stepmother myself.

"Is it customary," says I, "to pay a commission before the transaction's completed?"

"Not at all," said Amelia. "That wouldn't do."

"Well, the broker, havin' got his pay, wouldn't take any pains in the matter."

"If he didn't do his work he might return what he'd received."
"In that case he'd git double pay for nothin-that is, if his commission kiss.

"Isn't there somepin among business men like payin' part down, the rest when the deal has gone through?"

"That's got nothin' to do with bro-kers; it's when you buy a piece of property yourself." Well," I says, givin' it up, "I reckor I'll have to wait for my pay till I've done the job." I got up and was goin' out when Amelia said: "How soon are you goin' to send feller?" "I dunno. Somehow I don't like the transaction. Seems to me he'll git the lion's share." "Well, Mr. Grimshaw, since you look at it that way I don't know but I ought to make it more to your interest to do the job. I might double the commission, one-half payable in advance.' "Now you're shoutin'," I said, and instead of goin' away I sat down ag'in and tuk the first half o' my commission. It tasted so good that I began right off to hanker for the other half of my pay.

"Amelia," I says, "you couldn't pay it all in advance, could you?"
"Sartain not. What would there be to hold you to your work?"

I thort awhile, and then I said: "Supposin' I make the deal for my

WILSON URGES PEACE And Favors "Universal Monroe Doctrine"

In an address to the United States Senate. President Wilson has made known the things he considers necessary to a lasting peace at the conclusion of the present war. In outlining his ideas, the President suggested virtually a world-wide "Monroe Doctrine" in which he said the United States could not withhold its participation. The freedom of all peoples to work out unhindered ship regularly a given quantity of prodtheir own policies; the avoidance of en- uce to city consumers, and the latter tangling alliances; free outlets to and can best handle the business by means the freedom of the seas, and the limitation of naval and military armament were the main things to the desired were the main things to the desired $5 a bushel for all the corn they raise. end, the President said. #### Making the Little Farm Pay

By C. C. BOWSFIELD

Owners of little farms succeed most surely when they aim to have acreage production, the quality of supplies and the prices obtained considerably above the average. This principle is applicable to all farmers, and owners of small places must adopt it before they can attain a fair success.

Perhaps all readers know of instances where some dairy owner has gained a reputation for producing milk under the most sanitary couditions possible in ordinary farming. In every such case the farmer is immediately able to add 50 or 100 per cent to the price of his milk. He doubles his income or nearly so without materially adding to his expense. It costs little extra to handle milk and butter in a nice way. Love for the work, careful methods and worthy ambition will give the desired results.

If the usual profit in a flock of hens is $2 each above the cost of food the aim should be to increase egg produc-tion and the sale of broilers or other kinds of fancy poultry so that there will be a profit of $3 or $4 for each hen kept. This is to be accomplished by selecting pullets from the best lay ing mothers and by breeding up with full blooded males.

If the cows in a dairy herd are paying an average of $100 a year make an effort to raise it to $200. Perhaps the quickest way to gain this end is by discarding all animals that fail to give five gallous of milk per day for the greater part of the year. The stock may be gradually improved by selection and breeding. It may be possible also to sell the milk or cream to particular customers who will pay double the usual rate.

When a farmer is located near good market the thing for him to do is to sell to a select trade. He can supply hotels and restaurants as well as private residences. When producers are too far from a good market to drive in regularly they should adopt a system of co-operative selling and haul-ing. A number working together can Raise a first class article, whether there will be no difficulty in finding people who want your product if you will let them know what you have and what you sell it for.

That a lasting peace in Europe can-store to store with a tin bucket and in fact those very merchants were getting print butter from other states. That in such a concert of power the United States cannot withhold its participation to guarantee peace and jus-tice throughout the world. that sort. As with butter, so it is with all products of the farm. It is they can take advantage of the improved markets. The rapid growth of cities and the sharp demand for all kinds of produce are substantial evidence of this improvement.
